'When water scientist Francis Allenton discovers an authentic caduceus in a Grecian shop, his life and work plunge into mysteries, ancient and new. Edwards knows the territory, that same territory that drives NASA to search for traces of water on Mars and the outer planets, that has driven humankind to quest for the elusive Fountain of Youth.' (Jory Sherman, Author of The Baron Decision) A fictional exploration of how our most precious natural resource, water, can be manipulated for profit and to the detriment of humanity._,
